Artha Money, the multi-product, multi-brand financial services company, today launched property services, a new addition to its wide bouquet of services to make it a complete financial super market for retail customers.

Artha Money's MD & CEO Suresh Rangarajan told reporters here that all services would be provided under one roof. It would be one-stop-shop for all property services and offer end-to-end property and real estate consulting services to all income groups. The company has tied up with six builders, including some big names, in Sriperumbudur and 12 builders on the OMR.

To mark its launch, Artha Money would hold "Property Super Market", an expo, from August 29 to 31 at six locations in the city.

As a special offer, the company would give a 32" LCD TV free of cost for all the property bookings during the three-day show.
